

Request

A Standish electrician came & disconnected my hob in December 2020.

- 1) I would like to know what qualifications your electrician had when he rewired my kitchen?
- 2) Who signed it off?
- 3) Did you receive a Part P certificate?
- 4) Can you please provide a copy?

Response

- 1) The kitchen wasn't rewired at the time, only the cooker switch was replaced due to overheating.

Qualifications held by electrician in attendance.

- Level 3 NVQ diploma in installing electrotechnical systems and equipment (building, structures and environment)
  - Advanced level apprenticeship in electrical installation (completed)
  - Site supervision safety training scheme
  - Level 3 award in requirements for Electrical installations BS7671:2018
  - Level 3 award in initial and period inspection and testing of electrical installations (City and Guilds 2391)
- 2) Only the cooker isolation switch was replaced. Hence No legal requirement for sign off.
  - 3) No legal requirement for certification following replacement of accessory.
  - 4) N/A
