To whom it may concern.

I have a learning disability and/or a diagnosis of autism.

In line with the COVID-19 Government update issued on 9th April 2020.

I can leave my home more than once a day and travel beyond my local area if this is important to my health.

If I need carers with me, they don't have to stay the two metres apart from me that is usually required by social distancing.
However, it is still important to be careful and only go out when I really need to, to reduce the chance of getting ill or infecting other people.
